Our Lady of Good Success,

Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre & Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira

When the Second Vatican Council opened in 1962, it welcomed as some of its periti certain theologians associated with the school of the “new theology,” against which Pope Pius XII had issued a warning, but which gained favor during the pontificate of Pope John XXIII. Because progressive bishops and theologians had influenced the majority of the Council Fathers, after the Council French Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre wanted to continue the work of the traditionalist bishops affiliated with the International Group of Fathers (Coetus Internationalis Patrum).¹ Among those whom he contacted were the two Brazilians, Archbishop Geraldo de Proença Sigaud and Bishop Antonio de Castro Mayer, who, during that same decade of the Council, had seen their country seriously threatened by Communism, bringing a reaction among the nation’s population that was led by Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira.

In the midst of these developments within the Church and in society in the second half of the twentieth century, Archbishop Lefebvre and Prof. Corrêa de Oliveira emerged as the two leaders, episcopal and lay, of a traditionalist reaction within the Church when the Church herself was becoming increasingly divided. Two decades ago writers Atila Sinke Guimarães, Michael Matt, John Vennari and Marian Therese Horvat described the role of the two leaders.² One of these writers, Atila Sinke Guimarães, has provided an account of a more recent intervention by Our Lady of Good Success, who in the late sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries had appeared to Mother Mariana de Jesús Torres in Quito, Ecuador. He reported on another event in addition to the now widely known accounts of the apparitions, one that took place in the twentieth century. In 1968 a group of laymen conducted a campaign in the square in Quito near the cathedral, the presidential palace, and the convent of the Conceptionist nuns, when they saw some of the nuns nearby. When the laymen approached them, the sisters told them that the mother superior wanted to speak with them.

These laymen soon learned from the Conceptionist nuns that Our Lady had appeared to some of the sisters in the 1930s, telling them to pray for the founder of their lay apostolate, Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira, who later inspired an international network of societies known as Tradition, Family and Property (TFP). In 1978 the Conceptionists sent someone to São Paulo, Brazil, requesting that TFP members assume the role of carrying the Statue of Our Lady of Good Success on those occasions when it was presented for public veneration.

These events marked the beginning of a lay collaboration with the Conceptionist nuns that ultimately led to the spreading of this devotion throughout the world. In 1987 the TFP in the United States published a biography of Mother Mariana written by the postulator for the cause of her canonization, Msgr. Luis E. Cadena y Almeida.³ Then, soon afterwards, a priest friend of the TFP, Father Rafael Navas, who had been ordained by Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre, learned of the book and showed it to Archbishop Lefebvre, who mentioned it during his sermon at the episcopal consecrations in Ecône, Switzerland in June 1988.

Because of these events, the devotion to Our Lady of Good Success not only became known worldwide, but also priests and laity affiliated with the Society of St. Pius X began making pilgrimages to Quito, for the annual processions with the Statue – processions which, because of the request and authorization they had received from the Conceptionist nuns, had for years been organized and led by members of the TFP. However, according to the account of Atila Sinke Guimarães, disagreements began to arise between members of the Society of St. Pius X and the TFP. Eventually the former archbishop of Quito became involved, and the TFP members were removed from their traditional role, which was then turned over to the Franciscan Friars, who, decades earlier according to Atila Sinke Guimarães’s account, had abandoned this role, and had become involved with liberation theology.

As a result of these developments, devotion to Our Lady of Good Success has become a point of controversy in Quito, involving the traditional priests (the Society of St. Pius X) and the laity (the Societies for the Defense of Tradition, Family and Property – TFP) on one hand, and the archdiocese of Quito on the other hand. Our concern here is primarily with the disagreements between the priests of the FSSPX and the laymen of the TFP. Why were there deep and at times bitter disagreements regarding a common devotion, shared by both priestly and lay societies, the devotion to Our Lady of Good Success?

To respond to this question, Preserving Christian Publications is now distributing E. Mary Christie’s new book, Our Lady of Good Success and Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre (see ad, p. 5), along with Roberto de Mattei’s book, Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira: Prophet of the Reign of Mary (see ad, p. 4). Our Lady of Good Success foretold the terrible crisis that the Church and society would undergo in our time, while at the same time She offered hope for the Church’s final victory. In the seventeenth century She prophesied the role of a “prelate” who would restore the spirit of the priests, and E. Mary Christie argues that Archbishop Lefebvre fulfilled Our Lady’s description of this prelate.

Similarly, in telling some Conceptionist nuns in the twentieth century to pray for the work of Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira, Our Lady was preparing the Conceptionists to establish the collaborative role that the TFP would play in promoting the devotion, both among the Catholics of Quito itself, and among Catholics throughout the world, as Msgr. Cadena y Almeida observed in the conclusion to his biography of Mother Mariana.

February 2 is the local feast of Our Lady of Good Success, and therefore was an appropriate occasion this year for us to invite our online readers to learn more about two Catholic leaders of the twentieth century, Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre and Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira, who were the two leading “pioneers of Catholic resistance” during the present crisis, as mentioned by the four writers cited above. Three of these writers later questioned the application of the prophecy about the “prelate” to Archbishop Lefebvre, and even some of the priests of the Society of St. Pius X have shared their doubts. Meanwhile some of its priests have questioned the role of Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira and members of the TFP. But we firmly believe that the time has come for a healthy and charitable debate among Catholics of Tradition on these disputed questions, and we offer the books of E. Mary Christie and Roberto de Mattei as solid foundations for such a debate.

² “The pioneers of Catholic resistance were principally, in the temporal sphere, Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira, who in April 1974 publicly declared his resistance against the Vatican Ostpolitik with communist countries; and in the spiritual sphere, Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre, who in [June] 1976 made public his resistance against the post-conciliar Vatican religious orientation by ordaining priests without the Holy See’s permission.” Cf. “We Resist You to the Face,” published in 2000 in The Remnant and Catholic Family News, and subsequently by Tradition in Action, Los Angeles, California.

Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira: Prophet of the Reign of Mary

by Roberto de Mattei

From the Preface by Bishop Athanasius Schneider:

"One cannot understand the public and social action of Professor Plinio unless one starts from his spiritual foundation. The consecration to Mary, lived in a total coherence, leads Mary to reign in the soul of her devotees. The reign of Mary in souls is therefore the beginning of the realization of the Kingdom of Christ in society. Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira has foretold an epoch of spiritual and visible radiance of the Church, which will correspond to the triumph of the Immaculate Heart of Mary announced by Our Lady at Fatima in 1917, and it is for this triumph that he fought until his last breath.

"Those who reap the spiritual and cultural heritage of Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira, and Prof. De Mattei are part of this, participate in the same mission, that of leading souls to the light of Jesus and of Mary in the darkness of the contemporary world.

"By encouraging the reading and the diffusion of this book, I wish to make mine also the program which it transmits to us...."

The Truth of Papal Claims

A Reply to "The Validity of Papal Claims" of F. Nutcombe Oxenham

by Cardinal Rafael Merry del Val

"Does Dr. Oxenham imagine that even today a Bishop might not expostulate with a Pope, who, in his judgment, might be acting in a way which was liable to mislead those under his own charge...? The hypothesis is quite conceivable, and in no way destroys or diminishes the supremacy of the Pope. And yet an individual Bishop does not occupy the exceptional position of S. Paul, a fellow-Apostle of the Prince of the Apostles. Even a humble nun, S. Catherine of Siena, expostulated with the reigning Pontiff, in her day, while fully acknowledging all his great prerogatives" [p. 74].

Essay on Catholicism, Liberalism & Socialism:

Considered in Their Fundamental Principles

Juan Donoso Cortés

2014 - xx & 236 pages - hardback - $16 - #63282

"I am come in the name of my Father, and you receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him you will receive" (Jn. 5:43). In these words our Lord announced the natural triumph of error over truth, of evil over good.

They contain the secret of the universal forgetfulness of God, of the terrible propagation of pagan superstitions, and of the gloomy darkness prevailing over the world. They also foretell the spread of error among men, the tribulations of the Church, the persecutions of the just, the victories of the sophists, and the popularity of blasphemers. These words are a summary of history, with all its scandals, all its heresies, and all its revolutions. They also explain why the Jewish people, when called upon to choose between Barabbas and Jesus, condemned Jesus and liberated Barabbas; and why the world today, having the power of choice between Catholic theology and socialism, chooses socialism and rejects Catholicism; and why human discussions result in the denial of the evident and in the acceptance of the absurd [Book I, Chapter VI, "That our Lord Jesus Christ has triumphed over the world exclusively by supernatural means," p. 40].

The liberal school, fearing at the same time both light and darkness . . . has undertaken to govern without a people and without God; an extravagant and impossible attempt. Its days are numbered, because we see God appearing at one point of the horizon, and at the other the people. On the terrible day of battle, when the entire field will be covered with Catholic and socialist combatants, no one will know where to find this school of liberalism. [Book II, Chapter VIII, "Solutions of the liberal school. . .," page 116].

The Liber Brevior

Originally published in 1954, the Liber Brevior (or shorter book) fills a need for those who don't need all the features of the large and more common Liber Usualis. Like the Liber Usualis, the Liber Brevior has all the ordinary parts and propers of the Sunday Masses, all the major feasts and most of the regular weekday feasts, but without the parts of the Liber Usualis pertaining to the Divine Office. This shorter book is ideal for small choirs, students and others interested only in singing Masses. With English rubrics. In this edition are added a supplement of six Masses not in the original printing, and a supplement to the Feast of the Immaculate Heart of Mary. At the end of the book are found simpler versions of the Graduals, Versicles of the Alleluia and Tracts, set to simplified Gregorian notation for those choirs not skilled enough to sing the regular melodies. Includes 2 ribbons, reinforced durable Latex end sheets, red edges, Bible paper, sewn hard back; pages: xxxiv, 640, [126], 22. $34.00 + P&H # 89031

Holy Week Gregorian Chant Book

Since the Liber Brevior was published before the 1956 Holy Week changes became official, we have printed a companion volume, the Liber Hebdomadae Sanctae, or the Holy Week Gregorian Chant Book, which has all the ceremonies of Holy Week, including Tenebrae: 1 ribbon, white edges, sewn hard back. 244 pages $16.00 + P&H # 55737

HOLY COMMUNION

Communion in the Hand: Documents & History

Some Reflections on Spiritual Communion and the State of Grace

By Bishop Juan Rodolfo Laise

With a Preface by Bishop Athanasius Schneider

From the Preface of Bishop Athanasius Schneider, September 15, 2014: "The Church in our times has the urgent need of courageous voices in defense of her greatest treasure, which is the mystery of the Eucharist. Often today there arise voices in defense of the many human and temporal needs, but rare are the voices that defend the Eucharistic Jesus. With his book Communion in the Hand His Excellency Most Rev. Juan Rodolfo Laise, Bishop Emeritus of San Luis (Argentina), has for several years raised his voice in defense of the Eucharistic Lord, showing with convincing argumentation the inconsistency of the modern practice of Communion in the hand from a historical, liturgical and pastoral perspective...I consider it an honor and joy to be able to present this book of the most worthy Bishop Juan Rodolfo Laise, "decus episcoporum Argentinae". I hope this prophetic voice... may enkindle readers with the same faith and the same love and contribute to the universal restoration of the more sacred and reverent manner of receiving the Lord's Body."

The Mass: A Study of the Roman Liturgy

by Father Adrian Fortescue

"Essentially the Missal of Pius V is the Gregorian Sacramentary; that again is formed from the Gelasian book, which depends on the Leonine collection. We find the prayers of our Canon in the treatise de Sacramentis and allusions to it in the IVth century. So our Mass goes back, without essential change, to the age when it was first developed out of the oldest liturgy of all. It is still redolent of that liturgy, of the days when Caesar ruled the world and thought he could stamp out the faith of Christ, when our fathers met together before dawn and sang a hymn to Christ as to a God. The final result of our inquiry is that, in spite of unsolved problems, in spite of later changes, there is not in Christendom another rite so venerable as ours."

The Admirable Heart of Mary

by St. John Eudes

St. John Eudes reveals to his disciples how Our Lady's heart was the first-fruit of Her Divine Son's Passion, given to all of Mary's children, that it might be honored, cherished, invoked and, ultimately, with that of her Son, reproduced in them. This is the essence of St. John Eudes' spirituality which spilled over into the foundation of many religious congregations, literary works and, of course, the practice of heroic virtue. This doctrine is foundation for the triumph of the Immaculate Heart of Mary and of Her Divine Son and is very pertinent for our time. 2006 381 pages, reprint of 1948 1st English ed. $18.00 #55625

A Book That Made History

Throughout the twentieth century a cloud of uncertainty surrounded a vision that Pope Leo XIII received in the late nineteenth century, relating to a diabolical assault against the Church. What did Pope Leo XIII actually see? Were words uttered during the vision? To answer these questions, author Kevin J. Symonds engaged in extensive research, which he recorded in a book that now makes it possible for other Catholic authors to speak objectively for the first time about the historical facts. To learn the full story about this vision from which others now borrow, one must read the book that made history by ending more than a century of speculation, presenting the objective historical facts about the famous vision of Pope Leo XIII.

Pope Leo XIII and the Prayer to St. Michael

by Kevin J. Symonds

From the foreword of Bishop Athanasius Schneider:

“In his book Pope Leo XIII and the Prayer to St. Michael Mr. Kevin Symonds presents a very careful and competent historical research about the origin and the circumstances of the publication of the prayer to St. Michael....Furthermore he gives also a rich spiritual reflection on the Divine truth about the Holy Angels, the fallen angels and the reality and necessity of the spiritual battle. Mr. Symonds’ book is indeed very relevant for our times. May this book become widespread and raise to many Catholics—especially the clergy—a new awareness of the necessity to use the spiritual means which God and His Church have given us in order to fight against the infiltration and attacks of the evil spirits.”
