The Catechism of the Council of Trent

The Council of Trent [1545-1563] was a response to the Protestant Reformation. During the sessions of this Council the Council Fathers clarified and developed key statements and expounded Catholic doctrine, teachings, and practices. By order of the Council, then issued and approved by Pope St Pius V, there resulted in the 1566 publication of the Catechism of the Council of Trent (also called the Roman Catechism) in Latin. This catechism became the official manual of popular instruction originally intended for priests. The use of this catechism has been encouraged and urged ever since by various popes, bishops and synods. The Catechism gives a fixed and stable plan of instruction to the faithful and follows the Council's dogmatic definitions in 4 parts: Apostle's Creed, Sacraments, Ten Commandments, the Lord's Prayer. We decided to reprint the Fathers Callan & McHugh's 1923 translation in order to disseminate its teachings to a wide audience seeking to know the official position of the Church on dogmatic and moral questions. Bound with an attractive green hardback cover with sewn signatures, lv + 603 pages: $26 #5428

The Young Father Ratzinger and the Two Motu Proprio

Part I: The Restoration of Divine Worship

The reaction to Pope Francis's motu proprio on the Latin Mass, Traditionis Custodes, is a development requiring analysis, for the responses defending the traditional Mass are varied. They come from a variety of perspectives, sharing the same traditional Catholic Faith, but differing in the nuances of their application of the principles of canon and liturgical law.

In attempting to find the unifying principle behind the different opinions, we must examine the present liturgical controversy by turning to one of its central figures – not simply as Benedict XVI, or previously as Cardinal Ratzinger, but as the young Father Joseph Ratzinger in the 1950s. One of features of the theology that influenced Father Ratzinger's thinking was an emphasis on positive theology, or the study of the history of theology, as distinct from the body of common teaching compiled under the generic name of scholastic theology. In those early years Father Ratzinger wrote two doctoral dissertations relating to the history of theology, the first on St. Augustine, and the second on St. Bonaventure.

An important contribution of these two doctors of the Church was the work they devoted to the theology of history – the study of what Divine Revelation made known about all of sacred history, including the last times of the Church, from which the present liturgical crisis cannot be viewed separately if it is to be fully understood. St. Augustine developed his thought on sacred history in The City of God. Furthermore, he is associated with a tradition that divided all of history into seven ages. But eight centuries later St. Bonaventure further developed this tradition by adding an additional seven periods of history, corresponding to the history of the Church following the Incarnation.

All of this is explained by Father Ratzinger in a book known in English translation as The Theology of History in St. Bonaventure.¹ Because it was written in the decade before the Second Vatican Council, Father Ratzinger could not at the time have foreseen the liturgical crisis that was to follow the Council, nor the role that he personally was to play in confronting it. He would not have known that the Roman liturgical rite, which had been codified and unified by Pope St. Pius V, would once again become divided. Nor could he foresee that he himself would be the author of a motu proprio, Summorum Pontificum, as a personal attempt to unify what was again divided, and that Pope Francis would then abrogate his motu proprio, and try to unify the Roman Rite in a different way, by attempting to suppress the traditional Roman Rite that St. Pius V had established as the norm.

It is in reference to this contemporary crisis that St. Bonaventure's doctrine, as synthesized by the young Father Ratzinger in the 1950s, provides an indisputable clarification. The term that St. Bonaventure used, Father Ratzinger explained, was "reparatio divini cultus," or "restoration of divine worship." It was used by St. Bonaventure in conjunction with another term, "reaedificatio civitatis," or the rebuilding of the city. This twofold restoration and rebuilding, to take place in the last times – according to St. Bonaventure in Father Ratzinger's summary account of his doctrine – was prefigured in the Old Testament by the rebuilding of the Temple and of the City of Jerusalem after the Babylonian Captivity.

Various members of the hierarchy of the Church have spoken about the present crisis in the Church precisely in terms of events relating to the last times, as we have pointed out in another article by citing the well-documented research done by John Henry Westen of LifeSiteNews. With the publication of Pope Francis's Traditionis

Custodes, the attention of Catholics worldwide turns more than ever to the internal crisis in the Church centered on the celebration of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

For Catholics devoted to the traditional Latin Mass, the obvious significance of what was foreseen by St. Bonaventure – not from a private revelation, but from what was already revealed in Sacred Scripture – is that such a "restoration of divine worship" could not apply to the liturgical changes following the Second Vatican Council, for the novus ordo missae was not a former liturgy that was restored but an entirely new liturgy. This "reparatio divini cultus" could only refer to the return of the traditional Roman Rite, which dates back not merely to St. Gregory, but in some form to the time of the Apostles. For this reason the noted British liturgist Father Adrian Fortescue, without demeaning in any way the various Eastern rites, could justifiably state more than a century ago regarding the traditional Roman Rite, that there is "not in Christendom another rite so venerable."²

Traditional Catholics who are devoted to the traditional Mass of the Roman Rite recognize that such a rite of the Church can never be legitimately suppressed. Their confidence that it will continue for all times finds support in divine revelation regarding sacred history, in particular as it applies to the liturgy, which was explained eight centuries ago by St. Bonaventure, and brought to light in the 1950s by Father Joseph Ratzinger in a doctoral dissertation. Father Ratzinger's study on St. Bonaventure is an essential contribution to clarifying the current uncertainties about the role of the traditional Roman Rite in the context of sacred history. For sound theological and liturgical arguments upholding the traditional Roman Rite, well founded as they are, are presented as logical deductions from universal doctrinal principles – but theology, according to Saint Bonaventure, includes not only universal theological principles, but also their application to historical events. Inasmuch as the Son of God entered into human history through the Incarnation, God's plan for human salvation takes place in an ordered process guided by Divine Providence, which extends from the beginning until the end of time. Since Divine Revelation foretold an assault against divine worship in the last times, and also made known a restoration of divine worship, it is in Saint Bonaventure that the Church finds her description of these details in the context of the theology of history, the part of theology that makes known the trials of the Church in the last times. And St. Bonaventure's theology of history describes very clearly the restoration of the traditional Roman Rite. The instruments that St. Bonaventure saw as bringing this restoration, and as described by the young Father Ratzinger, are the subject of Part II in this series.³

² "Essentially the Missal of Pius V. is the Gregorian Sacramentary; that again is formed from the Gelasian book, which depends on the Leonine collection. We find the prayers of our Canon in the treatise de Sacramentis and allusions to it in the IVth century. So our Mass goes back, without essential change, to the age when it was first developed out of the oldest liturgy of all. It is still redolent of that liturgy, of the days when Caesar ruled the world and thought he could stamp out the faith of Christ, when our fathers met together before dawn and sang a hymn to Christ as to a God. The final result of our inquiry is that, in spite of unsolved problems, in spite of later changes, there is not in Christendom another rite so venerable as ours." The Mass: A Study of the Roman Liturgy, Boonville, New York, 2009, reprint of 1930 edition.

The Mass: A Study of the Roman Liturgy

by Father Adrian Fortescue

"Essentially the Missal of Pius V is the Gregorian Sacramentary; that again is formed from the Gelasian book, which depends on the Leonine collection. We find the prayers of our Canon in the treatise de Sacramentis and allusions to it in the IVth century. So our Mass goes back, without essential change, to the age when it was first developed out of the oldest liturgy of all. It is still redolent of that liturgy, of the days when Caesar ruled the world and thought he could stamp out the faith of Christ, when our fathers met together before dawn and sang a hymn to Christ as to a God. The final result of our inquiry is that, in spite of unsolved problems, in spite of later changes, there is not in Christendom another rite so venerable as ours."

HOLY COMMUNION

Communion in the Hand: Documents & History

Some Reflections on Spiritual Communion and the State of Grace

By Bishop Juan Rodolfo Laise

With a Preface by Bishop Athanasius Schneider

From the Preface of Bishop Athanasius Schneider, September 15, 2014: "The Church in our times has the urgent need of courageous voices in defense of her greatest treasure, which is the mystery of the Eucharist. Often today there arise voices in defense of the many human and temporal needs, but rare are the voices that defend the Eucharistic Jesus. With his book Communion in the Hand His Excellency Most Rev. Juan Rodolfo Laise, Bishop Emeritus of San Luis (Argentina), has for several years raised his voice in defense of the Eucharistic Lord, showing with convincing argumentation the inconsistency of the modern practice of Communion in the hand from a historical, liturgical and pastoral perspective...I consider it an honor and joy to be able to present this book of the most worthy Bishop Juan Rodolfo Laise, "decus episcoporum Argentinae". I hope this prophetic voice... may enkindle readers with the same faith and the same love and contribute to the universal restoration of the more sacred and reverent manner of receiving the Lord's Body."

The Truth of Papal Claims

A Reply to "The Validity of Papal Claims" of F. Nutcombe Oxenham

by Cardinal Rafael Merry del Val

"Does Dr. Oxenham imagine that even today a Bishop might not expostulate with a Pope, who, in his judgment, might be acting in a way which was liable to mislead those under his own charge...? The hypothesis is quite conceivable, and in no way destroys or diminishes the supremacy of the Pope. And yet an individual Bishop does not occupy the exceptional position of S. Paul, a fellow-Apostle of the Prince of the Apostles. Even a humble nun, S. Catherine of Siena, expostulated with the reigning Pontiff, in her day, while fully acknowledging all his great prerogatives" [p. 74].

Pope Leo XIII and the Prayer to St. Michael

by Kevin J. Symonds

From the foreword of
Bishop Athanasius Schneider:

"In his book Pope Leo XIII and the Prayer to St. Michael Mr. Kevin Symonds presents a very careful and competent historical research about the origin and the circumstances of the publication of the prayer to St. Michael....Furthermore he gives also a rich spiritual reflection on the Divine truth about the Holy Angels, the fallen angels and the reality and necessity of the spiritual battle.

Mr. Symonds' book is indeed very relevant for our times. May this book become widespread and raise to many Catholics—especially the clergy—a new awareness of the necessity to use the spiritual means which God and His Church have given us in order to fight against the infiltration and attacks of the evil spirits."

Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira: Prophet of the Reign of Mary

by Roberto de Mattei

From the Preface by Bishop Athanasius Schneider:

"One cannot understand the public and social action of Professor Plinio unless one starts from his spiritual foundation. The consecration to Mary, lived in a total coherence, leads Mary to reign in the soul of her devotees. The reign of Mary in souls is therefore the beginning of the realization of the Kingdom of Christ in society. Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira has foretold an epoch of spiritual and visible radiance of the Church, which will correspond to the triumph of the Immaculate Heart of Mary announced by Our Lady at Fatima in 1917, and it is for this triumph that he fought until his last breath.

"Those who reap the spiritual and cultural heritage of Plinio Corrêa de Oliveira, and Prof. De Mattei is part of this, participate in the same mission, that of leading souls to the light of Jesus and of Mary in the darkness of the contemporary world.

"By encouraging the reading and the diffusion of this book, I wish to make mine also the program which it transmits to us...."

School of Darkness

by Bella V. Dodd

"There was not a hint that despite the propaganda of hate unleashed against Germany and Italy, communist representatives were meeting behind the scenes to do business with Italian and German fascists to whom they sold matériel and oil. There was not a hint that the Soviet brass was meeting with German brass to redraw the map of Europe. There was no betrayal of these facts until one day they met openly to sign a contract for a new map of Europe — a treaty made by Molotov and Von Ribbentrop" (page 87).

The Admirable Heart of Mary

by St. John Eudes

St. John Eudes reveals to his disciples how Our Lady's heart was the first-fruit of Her Divine Son's Passion, given to all of Mary's children, that it might be honored, cherished, invoked and, ultimately, with that of her Son, reproduced in them. This is the essence of St. John Eudes' spirituality which spilled over into the foundation of many religious congregations, literary works and, of course, the practice of heroic virtue. This doctrine is foundation for the triumph of the Immaculate Heart of Mary and of Her Divine Son and is very pertinent for our time. 2006 381 pages, reprint of 1948 1st English ed. $18.00 #55625

The Liber Brevior

Originally published in 1954, the Liber Brevior (or shorter book) fills a need for those who don't need all the features of the large and more common Liber Usualis. Like the Liber Usualis, the Liber Brevior has all the ordinary parts and propers of the Sunday Masses, all the major feasts and most of the regular weekday feasts, but without the parts of the Liber Usualis pertaining to the Divine Office. This shorter book is ideal for small choirs, students and others interested only in singing Masses. With English rubrics. In this edition are added a supplement of six Masses not in the original printing, and a supplement to the Feast of the Immaculate Heart of Mary. At the end of the book are found simpler versions of the Graduals, Versicles of the Alleluia and Tracts, set to simplified Gregorian notation for those choirs not skilled enough to sing the regular melodies. Includes 2 ribbons, reinforced durable Latex end sheets, red edges, Bible paper, sewn hard back; pages: xxxiv, 640, [126], 22. $38.00 + P&H # 89031

Holy Week Gregorian Chant Book

Since the Liber Brevior was published before the 1956 Holy Week changes became official, we have printed a companion volume, the Liber Hebdomadae Sanctae, or the Holy Week Gregorian Chant Book, which has all the ceremonies of Holy Week, including Tenebrae: 1 ribbon, white edges, sewn hard back. 244 pages $16.00 + P&H # 55737
