The Temporal Mission of the Holy Ghost Henry Edward Cardinal Manning

Dear Friends of PCP,

Five years before the proclamation of the dogma of papal infallibility by Pope Pius IX in 1870, the future English cardinal, Archbishop Manning, wrote his book The Temporal Mission of the Holy Ghost. The title refers to the unique presence of the Holy Spirit in the Catholic Church as the Soul of the Church, the Mystical Body of Christ. This book has special significance for our time, nearly a century and a half later, not only for its contents but also because of its author. We would like to explain why.

At the time of the beatification of Pope Pius IX in 2000, lay Italian Church historian Roberto De Mattei published a biography of the beatified pope, in which he gives special importance to the role of Archbishop Manning at the First Vatican Council (1869-1870). Prof. De Mattei describes him as the leader of those bishops who were working for the definition of the dogma of infallibility, stating: "It is not an exaggeration to say, according to Msgr. Emilio Campana, that Manning occupied at the First Vatican Council a place comparable to that of St. Cyril at the Council of Ephesus, placing all his qualities of temperament, of diplomacy and of theological culture at the service of the dogma of pontifical infallibility.”

However, among the Council fathers who opposed the opportuneness of the dogmatic definition was the French prelate Bishop Dupanloup of Orleans. Bishop Dupanloup had proposed to the Council a concept of the Church that was very different from that of Archbishop Manning. “The Mystical Body of Christ,” Bishop Dupanloup stated, “has a broader extension than the visible Body of the Church. . . .” In other words, he argued that the Church founded by Our Lord was greater than merely the Catholic Church.

The opinion of Bishop Dupanloup was authoritatively put aside by the Magisterium of the Church in 1943 with the publication of Pope Pius XII's encyclical on the Mystical Body of Christ. The teaching of Cardinal Manning, on the other hand, was confirmed by that encyclical. However, Prof. Roberto De Mattei in his more recent book, The Second Vatican Council: A History Never Written, mentions that another French prelate, Cardinal Liénart of Lille – during the debates at Vatican II – had also proposed that the Mystical Body is more than the Catholic Church. Cardinal Liénart was repeating what Bishop Dupanloup had said ninety years earlier. Later, when Vatican II issued its decree on the Church, it used a new expression, stating that the “Church of Christ . . . subsists in the Catholic Church.”

This new theological formula has been the subject of repeated debate in the fifty years since the time of Vatican II. Because the Council did not define the meaning of the “Church of Christ” and the Catholic Church in precise terms, the arguments of the theologians have centered around the question of whether Vatican II had adopted the opinion historically associated with Bishop Dupanloup and Cardinal Liénart, or had restated in different terms the doctrinal teaching of Pope Pius XII, who had taught that the Mystical Body is the Catholic Church alone, and therefore that the Holy Spirit is the Soul of the Catholic Church. During these years of debate there have been theologians who have questioned the authoritative teaching of Pope Pius XII's encyclical. Nevertheless, the fact that Pius XII intended his encyclical to provide a doctrinal definition of the Church is clear from the contents of the encyclical, where he affirms that no better term can be found to describe the nature of the Catholic Church than that of the Mystical Body of Christ.

It is in the context of this theological debate that we have decided to make available Cardinal Manning's book on the Holy Ghost as the Soul of the Mystical Body, the Catholic Church. Cardinal Manning was in a unique position to understand the subject of his study, for he was a convert to the Catholic Church from Anglicanism, and therefore he knew from personal experience exactly in what way the Catholic Church differs from every other religion. A second book, written ten years later in 1875, was entitled The Internal Mission of the Ghost. In it Cardinal Manning explained how the Holy Spirit acted in the patriarchs and other faithful souls of the Old Testament – and therefore before Our Lord founded the Church – and also in souls outside the visible Church who are not yet members, either because of invincible ignorance or because they are still only catechumens. What Cardinal Manning was teaching was a doctrinal explanation of how the Holy Spirit acts universally throughout the world to bring souls to the Catholic Church. This is seen in another book of the Cardinal, England and Christendom. In writing it Cardinal Manning could see how, for example, the Holy Spirit could work over a period of time in the souls of individual Anglicans, as a means of bringing them finally to the Catholic Church. This is what Cardinal Manning knew from his own life, as he looked back and could reflect on how God had prepared him in advance to enter the true Church.

The first of these three books, The Temporal Mission of the Holy Ghost, is now available again, but only as an eBook at the present time. We intend to publish it soon, hopefully in early 2013, in a printed edition. In the meantime we invite those who have computers or handheld electronic devices to purchase it as an eBook for the very affordable price of only $4.99. Once you read it you will find that it is a profound explanation of the nature of the Church for our times, for it shows in every aspect of Catholic doctrine and life the uniqueness of the Catholic Church. Once familiar with its contents, you may want to donate to help toward the publication of the printed edition. Also, while we normally charge for each version of our eBooks, we invite you to make copies of this eBook at no additional charge, so that you can also send it to your friends. They may in this way see its importance, and perhaps may want to help as well with a donation toward doing the printed edition. The book is now available for downloading from our web site: info@pcpbooks.net.

The Temporal Mission of the Holy Ghost is an ideal gift for friends, a gesture of your friendship at this time of year – to those with whom you want to share a book that will deepen their understanding of the Faith and of the nature of the Church.

A very blessed Christmas with God's choicest graces!

In union with the Holy Family,

The PCP Staff

The Great Commentary of Cornelius a Lapide

The Commentary on the Gospels in Four Volumes

Hardcover – regular price: $175.

Advent Sale Now Only: $150 - $25 OFF.

Father Cornelius a Lapide (Cornelis Cornelissen van den Steen), a Flemish Jesuit, was born in 1567, and died in Rome in 1637. Soon after being ordained to the priesthood on December 24, 1595, he became a professor of Sacred Scripture at Louvain. It was twenty years later that he was called to Rome, where he continued to teach Sacred Scripture. As a zealous priest and devout religious he left to the world a complete commentary on all the books of the Bible with the exception of the Psalms and the book of Job, with the result that he has become one of the most renowned Catholic Scripture commentators of modern times, winning the admiration of certain Protestants even while they disagreed with his doctrine.

Among those non-Catholic admirers was an Anglican clergyman, Rev. Thomas W. Moseman, who in the late nineteenth century translated several books of Father Cornelius a Lapide's commentary on the New Testament, including the Four Gospels. In the 1990s Preserving Christian Publications began work on the publication of a new edition. In early 2001 we hired a translator to provide an English translation from the Latin of parts of the text that the Anglican clergyman had left out. Another publisher with whom we began working a short time later proceeded with publishing the commentary without first obtaining a contract with Preserving Christian Publications, but recently we were able to obtain a limited quantity of sets printed four years ago, which we now make available at a pre-Christmas sale price. Makes a great gift.

St. Robert Cardinal Bellarmine's A Commentary on the Book of Psalms

Psalm 2:7: “The Lord hath said to me: Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee.”

“Here is the beginning and the foundation of God's decree. For to Christ, as being the true and natural Son of God, is due all power in heaven and on earth. Three generations are here alluded to. The first, when in the day of eternity, I God begot you God. The second, when, on the day of your birth, I begot thee according to the flesh, made you God-Man, without the seed of man, your mother remaining inviolate, without the stain of sin. Thirdly, I begot you today, that is, on the day of your resurrection, when, by my divine power, I restored you to life, and that a glorious and immortal one.”

The Psalms of the Old Testament constitute the most important Old Testament book, insofar as the Church has made them a part of her prayer, the Divine Office, recited or chanted by clergy and religious, as well as using them in the propers of the Mass, prayers at the foot of the altar, etc. In the early centuries many of the laity knew the Psalms by heart, and during the Middle Ages laymen oftentimes continued to pray the Psalms in the Little Office of the Blessed Virgin, one of the most widely read books during that era. Because the Psalms are filled with prophecies about the Messiah, His Passion and Death, foreshadowed in the sufferings of King David, they nourish the spiritual lives of Catholics, who are called to share in the sufferings of Our Lord as members of His Mystical Body. # Thirteenth Greatest of Centuries

The accomplishments of this Greatest of Centuries were remarkable. Walsh breaks the details down into clear digestible and fascinating segments. Make you own bookmarks so you always come back to where you left off. You won't want to miss any of this. Over a hundred illustrations punctuate this marvelous book. We think TGOC is an ebook that every traditional Catholic with a computer should own, and eventually read. If they can't read it right away, they should have it at least as a reference work for themselves and their children.

"Many of the now rather numerous readers and hearers of this book, for it has been read in the refectories of over 200 religious communities, have said that the title seemed almost deterring at first because of the high claim that is set up for a medieval century. To mitigate the possible initial deterrent effect of the paradox of the Thirteenth as the Greatest of Centuries, it has seemed worth while in this edition then to premise a series of quotations from some of the most distinguished historical writers in English of our own time which amply justify the claim here set up. Frederic Harrison, Macaulay, Freeman, and Fiske are sufficiently different in themselves to make their agreement in supreme admiration for the Thirteenth Century very striking. In spite of their lack of sympathy with many things in the period, all of them emphatically declare that it is the source of most that is great and good since, and that while we have added details, we have failed to surpass its artistic and intellectual achievement in all the 700 years that have elapsed." WHAT ARE ELECTRONIC BOOKS?

An electronic book is the content of a paper book that can be read by electronic devices such as computers, Kindles, iPads, cell phones and similar devices. Electronic books (eBooks) come in a variety of formats, each having advantages for certain devices. PCP uses the PDF format, which many devices can read and is commonly used on PC's and Mac's. Images and special formatting are often part of PCP books and only PDF files currently provide for our requirements. eBooks in PDF form allow many useful features that are not possible with a paper book or other electronic formats. All PC's and Mac's can easily read PDF files. All you need do is download (from our web site to your PC) after you have the Adobe Reader (free) and then you can read all PDF files. PDF files do not need an internet connection from your PC or other device.

YOU KNOW AND LOVE PAPER BOOKS. WHY MIGHT YOU WANT AN eBook?

Easily Increase Text Size: Do you use reading glasses? You won't need them. You can easily adjust the type so you can read it. Find Text/Search Features: Easily find all occurrences of certain texts throughout a document (e.g., find all occurrences of "Abraham" in the Old Testament). Highlight and Add Notes: With the latest Adobe Reader X it is easy to highlight text, just as you might with a yellow highlighter for text books. You can also add balloon notes anywhere in the text. Active Links: Like hyperlinks when using the internet. Click on text in the table of contents to jump to that section. Link to associated content and video on the web ONLY if you wish. Add your own links! Print What You Need: Print key pages of interest (e.g. Baptismal prayers or chant). Read Aloud: Most computers have electronic voices as part of their operating systems (like Windows, Mac OS etc.). PC and other devices use this voice to read a book to you if you are interested.

IT HELPS PCP

eBOOKS ARE ALSO A STEPPING-STONE TO PAPER REPRINTS for Preserving Christian Publications. It is expensive to print hardcover books in quantity, eBooks give us a tangible way to assess interest in a book before we make a large financial commitment to reprint it. LIVING UP TO OUR NAME AT PRESERVING CHRISTIAN PUBLICATIONS, we have thousands of Catholic books, many long out of print. Putting these treasures into eBook form will preserve them even if we are not in a position to make printed versions of them in the near future. (If you are interested in helping with this effort please call us with a donation or donate on the website.)

QUALITY

Some consider any scanned book turned into a PDF an eBook. However, funny characters may appear in the text, or poor text flow, pictures deleted or of low quality, no proofreading, poor scan quality and no integration of the most useful interactive features. At PCP, all our books are character based and preserve original text styles (italics, bold etc) and will have convenient-to-read fonts and format. At least three people review and proof each book before it goes out. We still make occasional mistakes, but we have taken enormous efforts to ensure near perfect correspondence to the original text (for example, we do not change British spellings). We only correct spelling and obvious grammatical errors to deliver the message without distraction. You have our pledge that we will never make content changes. Interactive elements will be few and only used if they add to the traditionally held message. Never frills for technology's sake. We think eBooks will enhance paper books and allow God's message to be distributed in a form and at a price that should allow more people to receive the message. We realize they are not for everyone. To keep the price down, we deliver ebooks electronically only from the website.

The Mass: A Study of the Roman Liturgy

Father Adrian Fortescue

2007 429 pages (first published 1912) reprint of 1930 ed. / hardback with dust jacket

A DEFINITIVE ENGLISH-LANGUAGE WORK ON THE ROMAN RITE OF THE MASS

“Essentially the Missal of Pius V. is the Gregorian Sacramentary; that again is formed from the Gelasian book, which depends on the Leonine collection. We find the prayers of our Canon in the treatise de Sacramentis and allusions to it in the IVth century. So our Mass goes back, without essential change, to the age when it was first developed out of the oldest liturgy of all. It is still redolent of that liturgy, of the days when Caesar ruled the world and thought he could stamp out the faith of Christ, when our fathers met together before dawn and sang a hymn to Christ as to a God. The final result of our inquiry is that, in spite of unsolved problems, in spite of later changes, there is not in Christendom another rite so venerable as ours.”

“... the Roman Missal promulgated by St. Pius V. . . [was] never abrogated . . . .”

– Pope Benedict XVI, motu proprio Summorum Pontificum, July 7, 2007

The Perfect Pair Liber Brevior &

The Liber Brevior is perfect for all small choirs that are forming today because it contains almost all the Gregorian Chant they will ever need without the addition of the Divine Office. Also, there are two sets of Graduals, Alleluias, and Tracts—the full-length Gregorian propers AND simpler psalm tone versions. Inside: a complete Kyriale, propers for all Sundays, all Major Feasts and votive Masses, Sunday Compline and Vespers. The Liber Brevior contains almost every Gregorian Chant piece the normal church choir needs.

Holy Week Chant

The Holy Week Gregorian Chant book pulls from the 1962 Liber Usualis that which pertains to Holy Week, beginning with the restored Palm Sunday ceremonies up to and including the Easter Vigil. Thus, parishes with those interested in doing the offices of the Sacred Triduum can find this book most valuable in singing those offices on the last 3 days of Holy Week. And all the other sung ceremonies can be found in this little book as well. Has a durable binding, 244 pages, a ribbon marker and hard cover for long life.

The Truth of Papal Claims

by Rafael Cardinal Merry del Val

Printed edition: 2012 xvi 129p + 15p appendix – hardcover #55743 – $16.

“... Pius X, assisted by the great soul of his most faithful Secretary of State, Cardinal Merry del Val, gave proof of that enlightened prudence of the saints . . .” – Pope Pius XII

“The Truth of Papal Claims, by Raphael Cardinal Merry del Val, which Preserving Christian Publications has recently reprinted . . . is a worthy edition of an important Catholic work.” – Raymond Leo Cardinal Burke

October 2012 is the beginning of what Pope Benedict XVI has proclaimed will be a Year of Faith, but a true understanding of the Faith rests upon a correct understanding of the nature of the Church. In a world in which the Faith is increasingly called into question, Rafael Cardinal Merry del Val’s book The Truth of Papal Claims provides a simple explanation of the foundation of the Catholic Faith. It is one hundred and ten years since this book was first published, but now fifty years after the opening of the Second Vatican Council the nature of the Church has become a subject of uncertainty and debate among Catholics. In the thirteenth century St. Thomas Aquinas, while describing the Church as the Mystical Body, explained its nature in various ways. All members of the human race on earth belong to the Mystical Body potentially, he wrote, but not actually, for those who are not members of the Church merely have the capacity to become members. In the broadest meaning of the Mystical Body, all the saints of the Old and New Testaments belong to the Church Triumphant in heaven, even though the patriarchs of the Old Testament lived before Our Lord founded His Church on the Apostle St. Peter.

In the centuries after St. Thomas a new problem arose, when the Protestants preached an invisible Church of saints in opposition to the visible Catholic Church on earth. The Anglican form of this teaching was the “branch theory,” which made Catholics, the Orthodox and the Anglicans all different “branches” of the invisible Church taught by Protestantism. Cardinal Merry del Val shows in his book that the only true “branch” theory is that of the Gospel of St. John 15:6. There is only one Vine, and branches must be united to this one Vine to have life. If there is confusion about the nature of the Church after the Second Vatican Council, Catholics must apply Pope Benedict XVI’s hermeneutics of continuity by turning to the teaching of prior popes such as Leo XIII and Pius XII, who taught how the only living vine is the Mystical Body which is the Catholic Church, the Soul of which is the Third Person of the Blessed Trinity. A half century after the start of the Council and the resulting ecumenism, we must always remember that the Catholic Church alone is the one true Church of Our Lord Jesus Christ.

For those serious about understanding the Gospels and Psalms

The Catena Aurea - St. Thomas Aquinas

The Great Commentary - Cornelius a Lapide

Commentary on the Book of Psalms - St. Bellarmine

NINE VOLUMES IN TOTAL, OVER 33% OFF FOR THE SET.

The definitive English commentaries on the Gospels and Psalms

◀ All three Marked Down to $225<sup>00</sup> ▶

Catholics rely on approved Church sources, resting heavily on the early Fathers and Doctors of the church, to interpret Scripture. The Church disapproves of individual interpretations which can be fraught with errors and cause so much trouble. In these three sources one finds the bedrock of the Gospels and Psalms.
